Scent Points Capital Said to Have Seen the Largest of Ris Trip-He Sakes Four Speeches in That City. DUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6 .- W. J. Bryan and psy arrived from Nashville at 6 o'clock on a spial train over the Louisville and Nashville Mroad. The party was met at Union Station bilov. Matthews, John G. Shanklin, National Comitteeman for Indiana; Parks Martin, Coleman of the Popocratic State Committee of lians; John W. Kern, A. Greene Smith, Capt. IF. Allen, Samuel Look, and G. H. Hornaday, so constituted the Indiana State Reception Committee. The party was driven to the Louis de Hotel, where they took breakfast. About sy men were at the Fourteenth street station the Pennsylvania Railroad, where the party arded a special train at 7:25 o'clock for the ur through Indiana.

At 7:30 o'clock the train crossed the Ohio iver and stopped at Ninth and Spring streets, leffersonville. A stand had been erected close the track, and Mr. Bryan spoke for fifteen inutes to 2,500 people. The stand sagged wice, and Mr. Bryan stopped speaking long ugh for part of the crowd to get off it. When Mr. Bryan finished, the special train went to New Albany, five miles away.
In Jeffersonville a silvered balloon was sent up by some one in the audience just then, and Mr. Bryan said:

It rises about as rapidly as the gold has been rising, only it does not go so far."

SEYMOUR, Ind., Oct. 6.-The Bryan meeting at New Albany this morning had a decided sliver tinge. Four silver-gray horses drew the carriage that drew Mr. Bryan from the station, where his special train arrived at 8:10, through Silver street to Silver Grove, the place of the meeting, a few blocks away. The audience numbered between 600 and 1,000. Fifteen white roses, representing the fifteen electoral votes of Indiana, were presented to Mr. Bryan by "The lady clerks of New Albany Post

It was raining when Mr. Bryan reached Selleraburg at 9 o'clock. Hats of golden hue were conspicuous among the crowd of a thousand there, and a number of the people wor bunches of golden rod. Mr. Bryan asked how many in the crowd believed the gold standard was a good thing, and up went a score or more of hands. "Quite a number," he added. Then he said :

"A dozen or two held up their hands and said the gold standard is a good thing. Now, hold up some gold, some of you who said the gold standard was a good thing. [Cheers of a vild character.] Let me see your gold." Un went a hand, and in it was a gold coin.

Mr. Bryan nodded, and said out of those, not exceeding two dozen, who held up their hands one man had gold. "It is not even 16 to 1, my friends." [Applause and laughter.]

Scottsburg, reached at 9:25, turned out a good-sized crowd, and Mr. Bryan talked again. At Crothersville Mr. Bryan showed himself on the platform and told the people he was glad to see them, but did not have time to make a INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6 .- All along the route to Indianapolis the demonstrations were repeated. At Seymour 4,000, or 5,000 people heard Mr. Bryan, a throng between 8,000 and 10,000 was at Columbus, Edinburg turned out 3,000, and Franklin nearly, if not quite, 5,000.

At Seymour ex-Congressman Jason B. Brown presented Mr. Bryan to an audience of 4,000 or 5,000 assembled in the city park at Seymour.

"In the West we have always looked for the returns from Indiana, and when it was dark elsewhere we always had hope that when we got to Indiana there would come light out of the darkness. The vote from the West has usually been Republican. This year the people out West are solid on the money question, and no one doubts what the result is going to be there. [Cheers.]

Three bands played justily as the Democratic candidate stepped off the train with Gov. Matthews at Columbus at 11:15 A. M. Columbus and the surrounding country furnished an audience estimated to range between 8,000 and $50,000. It was gathered in the rain in a spacious open lot adjacent to the railroad station. Considerable difficulty was experienced forcing a way through the crowd to a temporary stand, which was so packed that a number were obliged to get off before Mr. Bryan could be accommodated with a place. He was introduced by David Emig. Chairman of the Bartholomew County Popocratic Committee.

At Edinburg Mr. Bryan said a few words to about 3,000 people who gathered around the train. He had a large audience at Franklin, the last stop before Indianapolis was reached, at 12:05 P. M. It numbered in the neighborhood of 5,000 people, who were massed solidly around the speaker's platform, near the track. Judge Woolen introduced Mr. Bryan, who made a brief address, in which he cited the annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Hon, Jeremiah Rusk, for 1890, to show that the prices of products rose with allver.

Mr. Bryan reached Indianapolis at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon from Louisville. He was of the control of the throng cheered the nominee enthusiastically. The first meeting was at the State House where the Legislature holds its sessions. This toos place at 3 o'clock, and was followed immediately by another big political demonstration in front of Toiminson Hall. Mr. Bryan begged off from making a third afternoon address as arranged by the committee, compromising by promising to give two speeches instead of one in the evening.

From the temporary standerected in the State House yard Gov. Matthews introduced Mr. Bryan. A bedlam of enthusiasm broke forth from the gathering, and it was some time before Mr. Bryan could proceed. His speech was frequently interrupted by wild cheering. He said:

Protests National Democratic Nominations.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Oct. 6. Willard P. Reid, State Committeeman from this district, to-day filed objection with the County Clerk of this county to the certificate of nominations filed by the National Democratic party in Suffolk county. The protest says that the nominations are irregular and contrary to law. Also that no emblem is filed with the certificate. Reid conemblem is filed with the certificate. Reid con-tends that the National Democratic party is not a political party that has cast the necessary ten thousand votes at any general election for Gov-ernor prior to Oct. it. Also that the alleged National Democratic party is not entitled to the name which it has adopted, as he says, for the sole purpose of deceiving voters; that the regular Democratic party is commonly known and styled the National Lemocratic party. Roberts Polletreau, the sound-money Demo-cratic candidate for County Junge, will reply to the objections.

Rudson County Democratic Nominations. The National Democrats of Hudson county remained in session in the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, until midnight on Monday making their Congressional and county ticket. Lawyer George L. Record declined the nomination yer teeorge L. Record declined the nomination for tongress, and Lawyer Rynler J. Wortendyke was mamed. The county candidates are Abash A. Redel of Jersey City for Sheriff, Lloyd R. Settleton of Hoboken for Surrogate, Henry G. Hermann of Jersey City for Coroner, and Herry Moss, Alexander Christle, John J. Bagle, William C. Barr, Henry A. Thomas, Daniel H. Lockwood, Louis Frey, Joseph H. Smith, Henry Killian, George H. Bell, and R. E. Galbrath for members of Assembly.

JUSTION CLEMENT'S WITHDRAWAL.

A Formal Declination of the Popocrat Nomination for the Supreme Court. The machine Democratic managers in Brook yn were still in a dazed condition yesterday over the formal declinations of Justices Brown and Clement of the judiciary nominations, and expected declinations of Judge Stephens and Mr. Moore, the other candidates on the ticket. Even ex-Register Hugh McLaughlin, the veteran leader of the organization in Kings county, came in for a lot of abuse for his responsibility in the make-up of the ticket. The ultra-Bryan men had tried to persuade him before the Convention was held to insist that the candidates named should pledge themselves to the support of the Chicago platform and candidates. Justice Clement folowed up his verbal withdrawal from the ticket by sending this communication to Chair man Salmon of the Convention yesterday:

To Arthur Salmon, Esq., President of the Democratic "DEAR SIR: In allowing my name to be presented to the Convention over which you presided. I was actuated by the belief that the course pursued by me in office was a better argument for a renomination than any opinions which I might hold on national issues. I was not ignorant of the great change which has been recently made in the policy of the Democratic party on national questions, a change not anticipated by me last May, when the subject of the nomination first began to be considered.

the subject of the nomination first began to be considered.

'The platform adopted by the Chicago Convention has, to put it mildly, proposed a new political creed, to which I cannot conscientiously subscribe. A sense of duty to the gentlemen who nominated me without exacting any pledge on that subject seems to render it, proper, now that that issue is forced upon me y influential supporters of Mr. Bryan, to return to their hands the power which they may again exercise of naming a candidate wholly in accord with the national ticket, although I cannot but deprecate the closeness with which national issues are allowed to bear upon the selection of officers whose powers and duties are not related to national affairs. This phase of the matter has been developed since the Convention, and I have delayed this letter partly for that reason, and partly also because for that reason, and partly also because absence of Judge Brown, whose action

"In conclusion I wish to thank the Convention for the great honor conferred, and to express my sincere regret that the considerations mentioned compel my declination. Yours, very respectfully, NATHANIEL H. CLEMENT.

"BROOKLYN, Oct. 5, 1886."

While the names of Judge Stephens and Mr. Moore still remain on the ticket, it is generally believed that they will also be withdrawn within a day or so. Mr. Salmon said that he would at once send Judge Stephens and Mr. Moore a formal notification of their nominations, and that nothing would be done in repairing the breach in the ticket until their replies had been received. The committee will have until Oct. 19 to accommiss this task, that being the last day for filing certificates of nomination. Mr. Salmon said that there were plenty of good men willing to run, and that there would be no difficulty in presenting an acceptable ticket. Among those mentioned for the vacancies are Thomas E. Pearsail, J. P. Judge, and Salauel S. Whitchouse of Kings county, and William F. O'Nell of Orange county. It was announced at Democratic headquarters in Brooklyn last night that it was aimost certain that Judge Stephens would remain on the ticket.

The Committee on Notification will meet tonight in the Democratic headquarters at the Thomas Jefferson building in Erooklyn to consult on the matter. ExtJudge Thomas J. Kenna is Chairman of this committee, which is empowered to fill all vacancies.

GEORGIA'S ELECTION TO-DAY.

The Contest Between Popoerate and Popu lints-No Republican Ticket.

ATLANTA, Oct. 6.-Georgia's election, which will occur to-morrow, will have no national significance. The contest, which has been between the Popocrate and Populists, has been fought entirely upon State issues and principally upon the question of State prohibition as against the present Local Ontion law. Gov. Atkinson is a candidate for reclection, and his administration has been of a character to disarm criticism. His opponent, seaborn Wright, is a brilliant lawyer, whose political record is largely confined to the eventh Congress district, where he resides. He has not been a Populist, but has been for years an independent in politics, and has been active as a Prohibitionist. His nomination was the result of a fusion between the Populists and Prohibitionists, the Populist platform adopting plank declaring for a general prohibition law. The Democrats very cleverly turned this issue so as to make it appear that the election of a Populist Governor and Legislature would endanger the present Local Option law, under which more than 100 of the 137 counties in the State are now dry.

The result is that the Populist effort to get the

The result is that the Populist effort to get the Prohibition vote, or rather the temperance vote, has largely miscarried. The Republicans have been holding hands off in this light. A few days ago Col. Buck, the State Chairman of the Republican Committee, did issue a circular urging Republicans to vote for Wright. But this was issued in an individual capacity. Many Republicans here are inclined to criticise Col. Buck for this act as giving to the enemy an excuse for claiming that the contest hall been in some respects on national lines. Chairman Buck says, however, that it will result in greatly decreasing the Democratic majority. Two years ago Atkinson was elected by a majority of 24,161.

WESTCHESTER DEMOCRATS MEET

State Committeeman Crawford Predicts a MOUNT VERNON, Oct. 6 .- The Westchester

County Convention of the Democracy was held this afternoon. State Committeeman George R. Crawford of Mount Vernan called the Convention to order. Robert J. Brach of Pelham was appointed temporary Chairman. George O. Beach of Mount Vernon was appointed temporary Secretary. Clarence S. Davidson of Greenburgh was made permanent Chairman, and J. Foster Jenkins of Yonkers and E. H. Squire of White Plains Secretaries. State Committee man Crawford said the sliver ticket would not get more than 7,000 votes in Westchester county. This number is less than one-fourth of the votes cast at the last election. John Hoag, the present County Treasurer, was renominated for that office, and S. Oscar Myers, M. YOUNG TAKES M'DERMOIT'S PLACE. Accepts the Popocratic Nomination for Congress in Hudson County.

The Executive Committee of the Hudson County Democratic Committee last night nominated Alexander C. Young for Congress from the Seventh New Jersey district. Mr. Young takes the place of Allan L. McDermott, who declined the nomination because, being a sound-money man, he could not constatantly run on the same ticket with Bryan or accept the repudiation platform adopted at Chicago. Mr. Young is a young lawyer who lives in Hoboken.

Popocrats Protest Against the Democratic

Ticket in Ohio. COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 6.-The State and electoral tickets of the sound-money Democrats may not get on the Australian ballot in this State. The State Popocratic Executive Committee filed a protest against admitting the ticket to the bal-lot with the State Supervisor of Elections to-day. It is based on the ground that the name is so similar to that of the regular Democratic party that it is likely to give rise to confusion. There is a State law against this.

The Wealth of the Country Has Gone Into Wrong Hands-His Deductions from the Price of Potatoes - Capital's Aggree stons-The Popperate Not Sectional BATH, Me., Oct. 6.—The following is the letter of acceptance of the Hon, Arthur Sewall, Demperatic nomines for Vice-President of the BATH, Me., Oct. 6. Hon. Stephen H. White, Chairman, and Members of the Notification Committee.

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to accept in writing, as I have already done verbally, the nomination tendered by you on behalf of the Democratic party as its candidate for Vice-President of the United States. And in doing o I am glad, first, to express my sat isfaction that the platform of our party which has commanded my lifelong allegiance is honestly and fully declaratory of all its prin iples, and especially of the absorbing financial issue, upon which, as you say, I took my stand when the hours of triumph seemed remote, the world boasted that the conquest of th American masses was complete " These principles have been of late in abeyance only because those whom we trusted to maintain them have failed to do so. These principles can never die. We have res cued our party from those who, under the influence of the money power, have controlled and debased it. Our mission is to now rescue from this same power and its foreign alliances our own beloved country. This is the first and highest duty imposed by our party's platform; upon the performance of this duty and when arrogant money changers throughout

they assure; the proof of good government is as contented and happy people, and the sunreme test of both is the ability to guide the country through a crisis as well as to administer the Government in ordinary times. Our people now face a crisis, a crisis more serious than any since the war. To what party shall they turn in their dire emergency? It is true that the present crisis may not involve all equally; that there are those who do not suffer now and who may not suffer should the crisis threatened by the gold standard come on in all its fury. Human selfshiness makes these deaf to all appeals, but to these, fortunately, the Democratic party has never needed to appeal to win its battles. Nor does it now, save as there are some among them who can rise superior to self in the sacrifice which such a crisis demands of every patriol.

"We are told that the country has prospered under the present monetary standard; that its wealth has enormously increased. Granted. But in whose hands? In the hands of the tollers, the producers, the factories, the creators of the nation's wealth in peace, its defenders in the factories, the creators of the mation's wealth in peace, its defenders in war? Have they the prosperity which was theirs so late as even twenty vears ago? I deny it. They deny it. None affirms it save those whose interest it is to do so, whose profits would diminish as prosperity returns to those on whose distress they thrive.

"All is indeed right between capital and capital. The best money in the world is none too good for those who have got it, but how is it with the 90 per cent, of our people who have "got it to get?" How ist with those who have got and the products of their own habor? These are the people for whom the Democratic party would legislate. What is the best money for these is the question for all to ask who really love this land. How also can you increase labor's burchasing power but by increasing the price of labor's products? Is it a fair measure of value that in our great producing scions and

Not by our policy, but only by the continuance of the gold standard can sectionalism be revived. Neither shall our opponents be permitted to terrify the neople by predictions that temporary disturbance or panic will come from the policy we propose. The American neople will be loyal to the nation's money, will stand behind it and maintain it at whatever value ther policy we propose. The American beople will be loyal to the nation's mosey, will stand behind it and maintain it at whatever value they themselves may put upon it.

Once before in the present generation have our people been called upon to face a momentous crisis. What then said Mr. Lincoin, the chosen leader of the plain people of the land? Was he awed by threats or weakenen by the willy persuasion of the faise friends who, as to day, pleaded for compromise with wrong? His answer was: "If our sense of duty forbids this, then let us stand by our duty fearlessly and effectively."

Let us be diverted by none of these sophistical contrivances wherewith we are so industriously plied and belabored, contrivances such as groping for some middle ground between the right and the wrong, reversing the divine rule and calling not the sinners but the righteous to repentance, such as invocations to Washington, imploring men to unsay what Washington said and undo what Washington did. Neither let us be slandered from our duty by falses accusations against us. Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.

We know well the nature of the struggle in

We know well the nature of the struggle in

We know well the nature of the struggle in which we are engaged; we are anxious only that the people of the land shall understand it, and then our battle is won. Hehind the strong entrenchment of the gold standard are gathered all those favored classes it has fostered, the only dangerous classes of the land. Avarice and unholy greed are there, every trust and combination is there, every monopoly is there, led by the greatest monopoly of all, the monopoly of the power of gold.

"With us, in our assault upon these intrenchments, are all those unselfish men who, not now suffering themselves, cannot rest content with conditions so full of suffering for others, and that vaster number of our people who have been sacrificed to the small and selfish class who now resist their attempts to regain their ancient rights and liberties. These are the patriots of 1800; the foes of a "dishonest dollar," which enriches 10 per cent, of our people to rob the rest; the defenders of the homes of the land, of public morals and nublic faith, both of which alike forbid the payment of Government obligations in a coli costiler to those who have to pay than that the contract calls for; the defenders of the honor of the nation whose most accred charge is to care for the welfare of all its citizens. contract cais for; the defenders of the honor of the nation whose most savered charge is to care for the welfare of all its citizens.

Equal and exact justice to all men; absolute acquiescence in decisions of the majority, the vital principles of republics; the honest payment of our debts, and sacred preservation of the public faith."

Profoundly sensible of the high honor of the nomination you tender, I am, truly yours,

Consul-General Crittenden Will Talk Silver as Much as He Pleases.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.-Ex-Gov. T. T. Crittenden, United States Consul General to Mexico, is here on his vacation. He is trying hard to get himself martyred for silver. Last month he sent to a New York newspaper a long signed article on Mexican industries and commerce. It contained a number of figures, he said, which were going to appear in his annual reort not yet published. The showing had been carefully made attractive from a silver stand-

To-day Mr. Crittenden received a letter from Secretary Olney. This letter, he says, is "a polite official notice which a careful diplomat readily understands to be a broad hint that his action has been a violation of diplomatic usage which, if repeated, will, in the ordinary course of affairs, be followed by a call for his resigna-

Nevertheless, Gov. Crittenden does not take the hint. In fact, he seems to be fairly itching to be martyred. He says to-day: "The department objected to my giving out advance information from my report, but I want to reach the beoole, and people don't read consular reports. They're too dry and there's too much in them." He also announced that he was going to Kentucky on Friday, and If he wanted to make a speech he would do so deliberately, knowingly, feloniously—if there is any crime about it—in spite of the department. Then he gave out for publication a rattling silver pronunciamento, and wound up by announcing that he intended to be in Kansas City on election day and vote for William Jennings Bryan.

Now, why all this? Many who know Mr. Crittenden very well are laughing in their sleeves. With McKinley elected, they say, Mr. Crittenden argues that his career as Consul General would likely end very shortly after March 4. Bryan is a long shot to be sure, but a possibility. Plainly, it is a Consul General's cue to be very outspoken for Bryan, a martyr if possible. Finally, if Bryan goes down, Missouri may none the less go Democratic; and there's a Senator to elect this fall, and Senator Vest is very old and Gov. Stone is very unpopular. A distinguished martyr to the silver cause might not stand a bad show. the hint. In fact, he seems to be fairly itching

He smiles when he contemplates the big plurality that is going to be rolled up against the Popogratic ticket, and he jokes about the poverty of his committee. There is nothing gloomy in Mr. Danforth's nature, and it is perhaps no wonder that his smile and his genial reception of the gloomladen county Chairmen who came to town at his behest yesterday to report on the situation up the State cheered those individuals up.

Something like one-half of the county Chairmen responded to Mr. Danforth's call. Others sent aubstitutes, and still others reported by letter. Mr. Danforth said that in one way of other he heard from all of the counties.

"And the reports were most encouraging." said the optimistic Chairman of the Popocrats. said the optimistic Chairman of the Popocrata.

Mr. Danforth met his county Chairmen down stairs in a big room on the ground floor of the Hotel Bartholdi. The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and lasted until 4. At its conclusion it was announced that an analysis of the reports showed that the Republican vote of two years ago would probably be reduced by 40,000 to 50,000. This would mean that the Republicans would carry the State by a little more than 100,000. Chairman Danforth actually beamed over this forecast. A majority of the members of the Popocratic State Committee were present at this conference and they were asked to meet Chairman Danforth in the evening. At the evening meeting the committeemen certified the substitution of Porter and Schraub as candidates for Governor and Lieutenant-djovernor, in place of Thacher and Porter. There was no money for campaign purposes to be distributed to any of the visiting statesmen.

Chairman Danforth was asked about his visit to Senator Hill last Sunday.

"I cawsay," said he, "that I am sure from my talk with Senator Hill that he will support both the national and the State tickets. I will be able to say more on that point in two or three days. I do not think that the Senator will make any formal statement, but his boation will be made perfectly clear. You know, of course, that Senator Hill made a very hard fight against the issue which is now the policy of the party. But I will say no more on this subject just now." Mr. Danforth met his county Chairmen down

There was a close contest in the Thirty-third district between Louis Davidson, the present Assemblyman, and former Port Warden John E. Walsh. The latter won by a vote of 84 to 78. The Republican Assembly ticket in this city has been completed by the nomination of E. C. Lee in the Eleventh. William Lickman in the Fourteenth, and Richard C. Van Horn in the Fifteenth. Mr. Van Horn was nominated last night, despite a strong effort to get the Convention to name Thomas J. McManus, Independent Democrat.

When the Bepublicans refused to nominate him The McManus held a Convention of his own and named John J. Walsh as an independent candidate. The result is that the Assembly fight in the Fifteenth district is between the same candidates who ran last year.

O'Brien of the Detective Bureau has been notified to look out for them, and the following explanation of the case was made yesterday at Police Headquarters:

'In 1882 the Commonwealth of Virginia gave to the Kendail Bank Note Company of this city the contract for its issue of bonds, but before they had been delivered the State reached the contract and gave the commission to the American Bank Note Company of this city. The bonds afterward used were made by this company. The Kendail Company flushed the bonds: it was ordered to engross and sent them to Richmond. Subsequently the company recovered a verdict of $39,000 against the State for the value of the bonds.

'They had been expressed by the Adams Express Company, but were never delivered, as the State authorities ferfused to receive them. Later they were sold by the Adams Express Company to pay the charges. report also says that young Mckim was one of the regular patrons of the bar of the Plaza Hotel, that his usual drink is brandy, and that he usually took two drinks before dinner.

The Chief says that, although McKim declares that he was robbed of his gold watch and chain and $25, the fact that he had a scarfpin, a diamond collar button, two gold studs, a pair of heavy sleeve buttons, a gold ring, money enough to pay $2 to Watchman Herbert, who found him, for a pair of shoes. $1 for the cab in which he drove up town after the alleged assault, and that he paid for a drink of brandy which he got at the Plaza with a $5 bill, is against his sandbagging story. The statement of the Plaza Hotel bartender that Mckim looked as if he had been on "a regular bat" forms the foundation of the Chief's explanation of the case. Mr. Conlin concludes his report as follows:

"In an interview with Acting Inspector Harley pesterday McKim himself stated that on the evening of Oct. 1, after leaving the St. Denis Hotel, he walked up Broadway to either Sixteenth or Seventeenth street, but could not tell which, and turned toward Fifth avenue, and when a short distance from Union Square West he lost consciousness, and could not say he received any blow, and was unable to say how he reached the steps in the basement at 95 Fifth avenue.

"It is not known where he spent the night, eas attention by the large audience of men, who felt that they were hearing the words of truth feit that they were hearing the words of truth and wisdom fall from the lips of one as eminent for his medical skill as he is distinguished for his discoveries in the domain of remedies and famed for his mayvellous cures. In fact, there is no physician in active practice to-day so well fitted, so eminently qualified to discuss the conditions brought about by overwork, improdence sand excesses as Dr. Greene. He has made the causes of the loss of vitality and premature decay the study of his life, as those who listened to him could easily discern.

Dr. Greene graphically described the gradual processes by which those in possession of health and vivor resch a condition of debility and nervous prostration, the successive steps and stages of decay. Nothing can be more insidious than the approach of this foe of human happiness, the premature decay of the physical powers. It is the more insidious from the fact that it does not always manifest itself in physical forms, but often in mental deteriorations beginning with melanoholia and hypochondriasis. There is a loss of spirits, the subject is overshadowed by gloom, and there is an every present apprehension of impending disaster. The intimate connection of the body and mind is thus shown, the decay of the physical powers incling its first manifestation in mental disturbances.

As the malady makes progress the physical and wisdom fall from the lips of one as emiis thus shown, the decay of the physical powers finding its first manifestation in mental disturbances.

As the malady makes progress the physical disorders show themselves. The body becomes weak. There is a consciousness of loss of vigor and vitality that causes the utmost alarm; the heart becomes affected functionally and palpitation ensues on the least exertion. Dyspensia is a feature which frequently introduces itself at this stage, and with it come attacks of dizginess accompanied by drowsiness and an indisposition to exertion. In time stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels become functionally disordered. The subject sighs often, there is a difficulty of breathing at times, pain in the right or left shoulder, or both, and sometimes in the chest and abdomen.

The nervousness increases with every stage of progress, and the most fearful imaginings are the result. They produce wakefulness at night, or when sleep comes dreams and visions ensue. Complete devitalization follows, and though the victim may bear up bravely and use every effort to conceal from his friends the fact that he is paying the pensity for his errors and indispersion, and the pensity for his errors and indispersion has lost its healthful tint, the color has gone from the cheeks, the skin has become of a dull leaden hue or taken on a sickly yellowish tinge that is unpleasant to look upon; the eye has become dull and lifeless, its brightness and sparkle gone, the step has lost its springy elasticity and become feeble and lagging, the face has lost its vivacity and much of its expression, and the erect pose of the form can no more be maintained save by strong physical effort and determination of the will, neither of which can long be sustained.

Nature is compelling the victim to honor the dr. its he has made on her in the days of his health and vigor. In the pride of his physical power he made an oversestimate of the strength of his vital resources, and now he would give all lever again. Repeated heart and over again. Separates and now ever.

Davies, Mayor Strong presided and started the speechmaking by swinging a little souvenir lantern and shouting: "Tickets ready, please:" The Mayor amused the railroad men with an account of his first trip to New York when he came over the Allegheny Mountains in a stage coach, paying his way through at the start and not being bothered by a conductor during the rest of the trip.

Folice Commissioner Rossevelt, who spoke on "Uniformed Forces," was introduced by Mayor Strong as a man who was as much abused as Bryan.

sense and the prudence to live rationally, and in harmony with the laws of his being and those of society.

But how much increased is the calamity if at this time the victim of imprudence and indiscretion is engaged to marry! With shattered nerves, a constitution devitalized, a prey to melancholia and the blues, without hope, can he contemplate the obligation to which he has committed himself without dread? Impossible. With the consciousness of his condition the obligation adds to his misery, and increases his misfortune a thousandfold.

But all is not lost. There is still hope, still a road to recovery for even the most desperate case. Dr. Greene now turned to the bright side of the picture and painted that in such glowing colors that there was no further reason for any one to despair. Dr. Greene has made the edition of weakness, of mental and physical debility, the study of his life. Posses to of a brilliant and penetrative mind, an is efatigability in research and investigation, the has succeeded in discovering the true remedies for the restoration of the weak and suffering. After years of unwearied investigation and experiment he discovered the only efficacious medicines that have ever been applied successfully to the cure of this weakening and exhausting disease. These wonderful medicines are purely vegetable in their ingredients, and have been so carefully brought together and so skilfully combined that the remedies give a result which never falls to cure the weak and discouraged sufferer, and make him again a strong, vitalized, and vigorous man.
